National Lottery Extended Programme Fund

– a summary

- The National Lottery Extended Programme Fund is a new time-limited funding opportunity for arts and cultural organisations launched in February 2023.
- It aims to create the opportunity for non-profit organisations to get longer term support than is currently available through the National Lottery Open Fund for Organisations, during a period when they may also be making an application to Creative Scotland’s Multi-Year Funding Programme
- Eligible applicants can seek support of between £100k – £200k for a programme of creative activity lasting between 18-24 months.
- The fund can support organisations seeking funding to deliver a programme of activity to audiences – such as programming a gallery, venue or arts centre, or for developing and delivering an arts or cultural festival.
- The fund can also support organisations to deliver programmes of developmental activity that are open and accessible to the wider creative community.
- The fund will be assessed against 6 key criteria, including an enhanced focus on equalities, fair work and environmental sustainability
- Applications are made via our online application portal
- The fund guidance materials will be available in a wide range of accessible formats to provide pre-application support for as many applicants as possible
- The fund is time-limited. Once launched, the fund will be open to receive applications at any time until the fund closes on 14 November 2023.
- Applicants will receive a decision on their application within 16 weeks of submission (Please note that these timelines are impacted by Christmas public holidays for applications received between September and November 2023. See Page 10 for more details.)
- Because of the timescales involved in delivering this fund, there will be only one opportunity to apply - if unsuccessful, applicants will not be able to reapply.

What is the purpose of the fund?

The National Lottery Extended Programme Fund is a new fund, launched alongside the refreshed National Lottery Open Fund for Organisations. It offers a time-limited opportunity for eligible not-for-profit organisations to apply for between £100k and £200k to support 18-24 months of activity.

It aims to provide support for a period of longer-term funding stability to eligible organisations who are not currently Regularly Funded by Creative Scotland.

This fund is aimed at supporting organisations which deliver programmes of activity which extend beyond their own organisation. This includes support for those delivering audience-facing programmes, as well as those whose focus is on supporting the development of other organisations, artists, creatives or specific groups.

The fund cannot support one-off projects or programmes with limited outcomes beyond your organisation – such as a programme of organisational research and development activity with limited public engagement.

For more information on the types of activity that can be supported, see Page 5. If you are unsure whether your programme of activity is eligible for this fund, please contact our Enquiries Service.

All applicants are required to consider the six key funding criteria (see Page 6) when making their application. For further information on these criteria, why they are important and the outcomes they will help to contribute towards, go to our website.

We expect this will be a highly competitive fund that is aiming to support a wide range of activity. To make informed decisions about which activity to support we require applicants to provide us with a level of detail so as to enable us to make the best decisions in accordance with our published criteria.

Organisations seeking Multi-Year Funding

The National Lottery Extended Programme Fund is being delivered during 2023 whilst Creative Scotland continues to plan and develop its next round of long term, multi-year funding for organisations. Further updates on Multi-Year Funding will follow during 2023 and any organisation interested in being kept up to date should sign up to the Creative Scotland newsletter on our website.

Applying to the National Lottery Extended Programme Fund does not exclude applicants from considering a future application to Multi-Year Funding.

What types of activity can the National Lottery Extended Programme fund support?

This fund's purpose is to support 18-24 month programmes of activity, rather than one-off projects.

We define a one-off project as something that has a clear beginning, middle and end and which has no longer term expectation of continuation or repetition beyond the defined period of the activity.

We define a programme as a set of activities that are episodic and that form a longer-term, sustained, body of work. The Open Fund for Organisations will accept applications for support for both projects and programmes. The Extended Programme Fund will only accept applications for programmes.

Examples of the types of programmes that the fund can support are listed below. The list is not exhaustive and is provided to give applicants an indication of the types of activity that can be applied for. If you have any queries about what you are wanting to apply for, please contact our Enquiries Service (see Page 12) before starting your application:

The fund can support:

- the ongoing public programme of an arts centre, gallery, venue or creative hub, plus the resources to plan and develop this programme across 18-24 months
- two editions of an annual arts festival, or the development year and delivery year of a biennial arts festival
- a programme of 18-24 months of mentoring, training and/or skills development activity for artists and creative workers
- an 18-24 month programme of artist residencies
- an 18-24 month programme of participatory arts activity working with particular groups or communities
- an 18-24 month programme of activity that includes the development of new work intended to be presented to audiences

What are the funding criteria we will use to assess an application?

There are six main funding criteria that we will look for in an application – five of these are mandatory and one is optional. Applicants will be required to tell us about how their plans will address the following:

- Quality and Ambition: supporting people and organisations working in art and creativity to make work of quality and ambition that enriches life in Scotland for everyone.
- Engagement: ensuring more people from all parts of society access, participate in and value a range of artistic and creative activities.
- Equalities, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI): supporting a more diverse range of creative people, communities, and activity, and promoting an equality of opportunity to create, participate and engage.
- Environmental Sustainability: helping tackle the climate emergency and supporting the growth of sustainable creative businesses and organisations across Scotland.
- Fair Work: promoting fair pay, conditions, and employment opportunities across the creative sector.
- International (optional only for applications involving international activity): developing innovative and sustainable ways of strengthening international collaboration and promoting artistic and cultural exchange

We will also assess the management and financial risk associated with your proposal, based on the information supplied in your application and programme budget.

For further information on these criteria, why they are important and the outcomes they will help to contribute towards, go to our website.

What the fund cannot support:

There are some specific activities that we are not able to support through this fund. This list is not exhaustive. If you have any queries about what you are wanting to apply for, please contact our Enquiries Service before starting your application:

- One-off projects with limited outcomes outwith your own organisation such as an internally focussed organisational development project
- Activity which is not directly related to the Creative Scotland's remit to support the arts, cultural and creative sector.
- Activities which have already happened or are scheduled to begin before we reach a decision on your application.
- Start-up business costs for new companies.
- Film, screen or TV industry projects or activity: Production and distribution of creatively-driven live-action, animated and documentary feature films or broadcast content intended for commercial UK and/or International distribution through any platform are ineligible for support through this fund and organisations seeking funding for these projects should visit Screen Scotland's website. If the programme relates to artists' film, or video, animation and audio content where film/video/animation/audio is the medium for the artist's work (for example, visual artists' film, creative documentary that involves artists, dance for/on screen, spoken-word films, creative podcasts, artist-led radio drama, and sound art) then organisations are eligible to apply through this fund.
- Activity which is related to academic studies in Further or Higher Education, including funding for activity led by or involving full-time students, funding for FE/HE tuition fees, or projects which are part of an accredited course or core curriculum activity.
- General arts or creative activities in schools. Artist-led activity which is in addition to core curriculum delivery and demonstrates clear partnership working can be supported provided the application comes from an eligible arts organisation and adds value to the learning experience.
- Publishing activities that support academic, journalistic or reference work. This includes work intended for educational purposes, and work that does not primarily focus on creative responses to their subject matter.
- Large scale building work or feasibility studies for building projects (see Capital, Equipment and Consumables Appendix on Page 27)
- Funding solely for equipment (see Capital, Equipment and Consumables Appendix on Page 27)
- Activity designed to generate a profit and without clear public benefit (see Profit Making Appendix on Page 37)
- Funding which is primarily seeking funds to fundraise for other causes.
- Translation costs for international publishers
- Self-publishing (excluding in the Visual Arts, Crafts and Design sector)
- Activity taking place outside of Scotland led by applicants based outside Scotland, with no Scotland-based partners onboard.

- Other activities which would more appropriately be supported by another Creative Scotland or Screen Scotland funding programme. This includes:
 - Productions eligible for the Touring Fund for Theatre and Dance – this fund can support eligible theatre/dance companies looking to develop a programme of new work or new audiences, but subsequent touring costs cannot be supported.
 - Youth music projects eligible for the Youth Music Initiative
 - Film/TV/screen projects eligible for Screen Scotland funds
- Activity that has already been supported by Creative Scotland / Screen Scotland funding (from the National Lottery Open Fund for Organisations, the National Lottery Extended Programme Fund or any other Creative Scotland / Screen Scotland funding programme) and is seeking additional top up funds.

Who can apply?

As the funding comes from the National Lottery and is intended to support activity that maximises public benefit, any type of constituted non-profit distributing artistic, creative or cultural organisation based in Scotland can apply.

Non-profit distributing organisations based outside Scotland but operating with a UK-wide remit, can apply if the funding is for activity taking place in Scotland, and which will be of direct benefit to people in Scotland.

All other non-profit applicants based outside Scotland can only consider applying for support if they are delivering activity that takes place in Scotland, they are working with Scotland-based partners, and they are able to demonstrate that their work is directly benefiting those based here (be they audiences or the creative community).

All applicant organisations must have a UK bank account in the same name as the applicant organisation.

Please note: as part of the Scottish Government's Bute House Agreement, all organisations applying for funding from Creative Scotland from 1 July 2023 will be required to pay all directly employed staff at least the Real Living Wage.

Who cannot apply?

Please note that the following is not definitive and if you have any queries about your organisation's eligibility to apply to this fund, please contact our Enquiries Service before starting your application:

- Profit-distributing companies, such as companies limited by shares or companies without a clear asset lock
- Organisations seeking funding for activity which is not part of Creative Scotland's remit and is not related to the arts, cultural and creative sector.
- Creative Scotland's Regularly Funded Organisations (RFOs). An RFO can be cited as a partner in an application made by another organisation to the National Lottery Extended Programme Fund – but RFOs cannot apply and should not be the main beneficiary of any funding awarded.
- Organisations based outside Scotland seeking funding for activity taking place outside Scotland.
- Organisations in administration, receivership and liquidation.
- Unconstituted artists' groups, collectives or bands (these should apply through the Open Fund for Individuals).
- Individuals and Sole Traders

How much can I apply for?

Eligible organisations can only apply for funding between £100k and £200k (excluding eligible access costs) for a programme of creative activity lasting between 18-24 months.

If you are seeking less than £100k and/or looking to deliver a programme that is less than 18 months then please refer to the National Lottery Open Fund for Organisations.

No applications will be allowed to ask for more than £200k and/or 24 months support through this fund. For any organisations interested in longer-term, multi-year funding please see information on Page 4.

When can I apply?

The fund will open to applications from 15 February 2023 at 2pm.

Eligible organisations can apply at any time until the fund closes at 2pm on Tuesday 14 November 2023.

How long will it take to get a decision?

If your application, when submitted, is full, complete and eligible you will hear the decision within 16 weeks of submission.

Please note: If you are applying between September and November 2023, these timescales will be affected by office closures due to public holidays over the Christmas period. This means the addition of an extra 2 weeks to the timeline – but please check our website during this period for updates.

When to submit your application

In your application you will be asked to provide a 'start date' for your activity. Your start date must be after the date you will hear the outcome of your application and we strongly advise allowing additional time to complete and exchange funding contracts, and for the first payment of the award to be made. These processes usually take 2-4 weeks from the point at which you are notified of the outcome of your application.

These timescales are based on you submitting all the required information at time of application. If any information is missing or the application is incomplete, then this may delay the process and the timescales will only begin once your application is considered complete.

How many applications can I make?

Applicants can only make one application to the National Lottery Extended Programme Fund between the fund's launch in February 2023 and the fund closing in November 2023. The timescale to deliver the fund is such that we cannot allow applicants to submit a further application or reapplication.

If you are already in receipt of one live funding award from the Open Fund: Sustaining Creative Development and/or the National Lottery Open Fund for Organisations then you still apply to this fund.

If you are in receipt of two funding awards from the Open Fund: Sustaining Creative Development and/or the National Lottery Open Fund for Organisation – or if you have one live funding award and one further application still under consideration – then you cannot apply to this fund until one of these projects/applications has closed and all appropriate end of project reporting paperwork has been submitted and signed off.

Please note: if you apply for or if you receive funding from this fund: then you can still apply to National Lottery Open Fund for Organisations, but you can only make one application to that fund and it must be for a wholly new, separate and discrete project to the one you've applied (or been funded) for through the National Lottery Extended Programme Fund.

If unsuccessful can I reapply?

No. Due to the extended decision-making timescales for the National Lottery Extended Programme Fund, unsuccessful applicants will not be allowed to reapply.

If an unsuccessful application can be reconfigured to meet the criteria of the National Lottery Open Fund for Organisations, you can consider submitting an application. Please note it can support up to £100k for activity lasting a maximum of 18 months.

For any organisations interested in longer-term, Multi-Year Funding please see information on Page 4.

Do you need help or access support before making an application?

Creative Scotland is committed to offering clear and accessible application processes and programmes that are open to everyone. We have a number of ways we can support you to make your application:

- We can offer guidance to applicants on the process of making an application
- Access support is available for disabled applicants, tailored to individual requests. Support includes Sign Language Interpreters for meetings and scribing support for applicants with dyslexia.
- Additional one-to-one support is available to applicants with access requirements
- Information is available in alternative formats (including large print, Braille, Easy Read, audio version and other languages such as Gaelic and BSL)
- We can accept applications in a physical format for those without internet access
- We can accept applications and supporting materials written in English, Gaelic or Scots
- We offer video walk-throughs of our online application forms

If you require support, further information or have any general enquiries about the fund and how to apply please contact our Enquiries Service. Our Enquiries Service will be able to advise you or will put you in contact with one of our officers.

Contacting our Enquiries Service

If you need help, want to clarify whether you and/or your programme are eligible, or you wish to discuss other questions about this fund, please contact our Enquiries Service.

Email: enquiries@creativescotland.com

Web: Fill out a form on our website

Twitter: Send us a tweet @creativescots

We aim to respond to all enquiries as soon as possible, and definitely within 10 working days. If your query is urgent, let us know and we'll come back to you as soon as we can.

If you want to speak to someone you can let us know your number and we'll arrange a suitable time for a member of the team to give you a call back.

How to apply

Our online application portal

Applications for the National Lottery Extended Programme Fund are made through Creative Scotland's online application portal.

<https://my.creativescotland.com/>

Please check our website to ensure that you are using the most up-to-date version of the guidance. We will update this guidance periodically and you should ensure you're referring to the most current version available.

Have you previously applied to Creative Scotland using our online portal and are already registered with us?

If yes, then you can just log in to the portal, click on 'Funding' and select 'National Lottery Extended Programme Fund' from the selection of funding programmes which are presently open for applications.

Are you a new applicant or one who is registering on the online portal for the first time?

If you haven't applied using our online portal before, and haven't yet registered an account with us, you will need to create an account for your organisation. Go to: <https://my.creativescotland.com/signup> and follow the simple sign-up process.

When registering you will be asked to supply official documents to provide evidence of your company type. These can be updated during the application process but are essential requirements in order to be able to apply.

Once you have submitted your registration, you will receive a validation email to confirm the account, after which you can then log in and proceed as outlined above. When completing your application you will be able to work on a draft of your application online, save it as you go along and come back to it at any time before submitting.

Need help whilst completing the online application form:

If you need help completing the online application due to a disability or access need, you will be able to click on an 'Access Support' help button in the online portal. Clicking on this will inform our Enquiries Team of your requirements and you will be duly contacted by a staff member. In this situation, please wait for us to contact you. We will do so promptly and will ensure that your application is considered and that you will not be disadvantaged.

Completing the online form

Introduction

What follows is a summary of what we ask you to tell us in the application form, with prompts and a brief overview of what we're looking for. To see a full list of the actual application questions and the associated word limits for each, see Application Questions Appendix on Page 28.

Eligibility

The first part of the application process asks you for information to check that you meet the basic eligibility criteria. This stage is the same for all applicants, no matter how much funding you are requesting or what type of programme/activity you are planning.

If you do not meet any of the eligibility criteria then you will not be able to continue with your application.

Once you have completed this stage, you can progress directly to working on your application.

Addressing the Criteria

Applications to the National Lottery Extended Programme Fund are assessed against six criteria (one of which is optional) and a risk rating, as follows:

- Quality and Ambition
- Engagement
- Equalities, Diversity and Inclusion
- Environmental Sustainability
- Fair Work
- International (Optional)
- Management and Risk

For further information on these criteria, why they are important and the outcomes they will help to contribute towards, go to our website.

To help us understand how you meet the criteria, the online application portal will ask you a series of questions in different sections. There are guidelines on the approximate number of words we expect next to each section on the application portal, along with a countdown of the maximum characters you can input for each section. It is more important to cover all the areas we ask for details on, rather than to write a lot of other details in each section. We advise you to think about the criteria, and how all the information you give us combines to show us that your programme meets each one.

When writing an application, it's sometimes helpful to think of it as telling a story with a beginning (what you want to do and why you want to do it), a middle (how you will do it and who else is involved) and an end (what will be different when you've finished the programme, and what might happen next).

Specifically, in each section we are looking for the following information:

About your Organisation

When filling in this section think about how you can best describe to us what your organisation does to support culture and creativity.

We will ask you to give us a short statement about the work your organisation does. Tell us a little about your main aims and activities and the work that you have done in the past. There is also an option later in the form to upload or link to examples of your work.

About your Programme

In this section we will ask you some basic questions about the activity you are applying for funding to support, such as the main art form or specialism areas you will be working in and the dates when your activity will happen. We will also ask you for a title and short description of your activity here. Don't worry about including lots of detail at this stage – there's the opportunity to tell us more about your plans in the next section.

Quality and Ambition

In this section we'll ask you some more detailed questions on the activity you are applying for funding and specifically how it meets our criteria for Quality and Ambition. You can read more about our Quality and Ambition criteria on our website, but we are looking for some key information in this section on what activity you want to do, why you want to do it, and how you will work to ensure the activity is delivered to ensure high quality outcomes for the people involved. Tell us about any particular approaches you are taking to the content of your programme. For example, if your plans include activity (whether in creation or delivery) in or about a language or culture other than English, including Scotland's indigenous languages, please tell us about your approach to this.

We ask you to upload a programme plan in this section, on an excel template you can download from our website. This is an opportunity for you to list the different strands of activity that make up your programme – we recognise that for some organisations there may be many more of these strands than for other organisations, but this allows you not to have to list all of these in the narrative question above, but rather tell us about your overall approach.

We also ask you to tell us who else is involved in the programme, including individuals or partner organisations. You can upload details of these people, and evidence of partner organisations' contributions here too.

Next we ask you about your organisational governance model, and how this supports you to deliver work of quality and ambition.

Finally in this section we ask you about your approach to innovation, experimentation and creative risk. We want to know how you stay up to date on best practice, and how you embrace new ways of working.

Throughout this section we ask you about quality. Quality is a subjective measurement, and so we don't use a particular definition of this, but rather we consider a number of different aspects. These include:

- who is working on the activity, and the knowledge, skills and/or perspective they will be bringing to the work
- how the work you are doing will help the people involved build their knowledge and skills
- how you are improving what you do and the ways you work as an organisation
- how you set goals for new activity and seek to build on the work you have done in the past
- how you monitor and evaluate your work to ensure you have met your goals
- how you consult with those within and outside your organisation to understand their perceptions of your organisation and your work
- how you understand what the people you work with consider to be high quality outcomes, and how are you working to meet these expectations
- how all the people you are working with can influence the design and content of your activity

Engagement

You can read more about our Engagement criteria on our website.

In this section we will ask about who you're planning to reach with your programme of activity. We want to understand your approach to working with them and what their experience will be like. If you're planning to work with specific groups of people we want to understand how your activity has been designed with particular consideration of their needs. We also want to ensure that you have considered how people can have a good experience of the programme and have implemented safeguarding, especially if you are planning to work with children, young people or vulnerable adults.

In this section we will also ask you about the format and setting of your programme. We are interested to understand how your aims in terms of reaching people may be influencing the design approach you've taken to your programme. Perhaps your aims will be causing you to consider more digital delivery, delivery in particular venues or your activity taking place over more or shorter sessions than usual, for example.

We're also interested in understanding the impact your work has had on people in the past, and how these experiences have influenced the approach you are taking in this activity.

Equalities, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI)

In this section we will ask you questions on how you are considering Equalities, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI) in various aspects of your activity. You can read more about our EDI criteria on our website.

Firstly, we want to understand whether there are any specific approaches you are taking to EDI within your activity. These might be particular themes you are exploring within your activity, particular groups your activity is seeking to engage with, or any aspects of your approach to delivering your activity that are based around EDI. We are keen to understand how the approach you're taking relates to your wider organisational approach to EDI, and how you review and adapt your work to ensure you're meeting the needs of the people you're trying to reach.

We are also keen to understand how you consider EDI when deciding who you're going to work with, and how you're going to work with them. Some of the things you might want to describe here are how you consider EDI when selecting the people and organisations you work with; how you consider EDI when choosing the ways in which you work with people; and how you monitor your approach to EDI within your organisation.

Next, we want you to consider how you understand the barriers that people might have to working with you or engaging with your work. Consider whether there are any features of the way you work, the places you work in, or aspects of the work you do which might make it hard for people to access or engage with.

Finally in this section we ask you to upload an EDI action plan. This is a mandatory upload for any organisation applying for this fund. If you don't have an EDI action plan already, you can find some guidance on developing one on our website.

Environmental Sustainability

You can read more about our Environmental Sustainability criteria on our website.

We are interested in sustainability both in relation to actions you may be taking to help address the climate emergency – as well as the future sustainability of your business. The questions in this section relate specifically to the climate emergency, while our assessment of your business sustainability will be based on a consideration of your programme and financial management information.

Firstly we want to understand whether there are any specific aspects to the activity you're proposing that are particularly relevant to this criteria. Your work may have particular themes relating to sustainability, or you may be working in specific ways in order to reduce your climate impact. Tell us all the ways in which the climate emergency has influenced the way you have developed your activity.

We also want to know the specific ways in which your organisation is actively seeking to reduce your carbon impact in line with the country's aims to reach net zero. You should share whether your organisation has any particular carbon reduction plans or policies here, along with details of any specific initiatives you are part of.

Finally, we want to know how you are considering the climate emergency in your wider organisational management. If you have any specific approaches to ensuring climate is considered in your organisational planning, please describe them here. We're also keen to understand who takes responsibility for this work within your organisation, and how they evaluate and monitor your progress against your aims.

Fair Work

You can read more about our Fair Work criteria on our website.

This section asks you to describe your approach to Fair Work. We define Fair Work in relation to the Scottish Government's Fair Work First policy and consider all the key principles of this policy, including respect at work, effective voice and fair opportunity, alongside fair pay.

Firstly we will ask you describe your organisation's overall approach to Fair Work across all of these key principles. We are interested in how you consider Fair Work across everyone you will work with on your activity, from core members of staff to individuals working with you on a short term project – even as volunteers. If community participants or organisations will be contributing to the content of your programme or activity, we also want to understand how you are compensating them for this contribution – for example through an honorarium or fee in addition to any expenses or access costs.

We will ask you what policies and procedures you have relating to Fair Work, and how you ensure that these are communicated to those you're working with. We want to understand how the people you're working with understand your approach and how they know what to do if something goes wrong.

Then we ask a number of questions on how you employ and pay people. In this section you can tell us how you set rates of pay for the people you work with, including referencing any industry recommended rates you apply. We also want to know how you recruit people and how you ensure that your recruitment processes are clear and transparent.

It is not Creative Scotland's role to prescribe the rates of pay that apply when employing, working with and/or commissioning artists and creative practitioners. The Rates of Pay Guidance document available to download from the Creative Scotland website gathers sources of guidance on industry standards, union rates and codes of practice from key leading bodies. We expect applicants to reference clearly an appropriate industry pay standard in their budget when applying for the National Lottery Open Fund for Organisations.

Please Note: as part of the Scottish Government's Bute House Agreement, all organisations applying for funding from Creative Scotland from 1 July 2023 will be required to pay all directly employed staff at least the Real Living Wage.

International

International is an optional criteria, as not all applicants will be planning to work internationally during the activity they are seeking funding to support. You can read more about the International criteria on our website.

If you are working internationally, we want to understand what this activity is, where it will happen, and what your aims are for this activity. We also want to understand how you have selected these locations and any local partners, and what these international partners will bring to your programme that would not be possible to achieve in Scotland.

We want to understand what the impact of this international work is likely to be – both for the people engaging with your work, and for your organisation as a whole. Finally, we want to understand how this international activity aligns with your aims around environmental sustainability, and the sustainability of your business.

Management and Risk

In this section we will ask your approach to management and risk within your activity.

We want to understand your approach to managing your activity to ensure you are meeting your aims. In this section you should describe your experience of similar work in the past, along with any specific approaches you are taking to manage the activity you are proposing here. We also want to understand your approach and experience of financial management, particularly in the context of managing public funding.

Finally we want to understand your approach to managing risk. These might be risks outside of your control, such as someone becoming ill or, for an outdoor activity, poor weather. They might be risks you can reduce – such as reducing the risk of people not attending your performance or exhibition, which you can address through marketing plans. Then there are risks you can manage – such as managing the likelihood of someone involved in your programme being injured by ensuring thorough health and safety checks and briefings. In all cases we want to know what the main risks are for your programme, and how you will manage these to reduce their likelihood and limit their impact on the overall success of your activity.

As well as describing your overall approach to risk here, we will ask you to upload a risk assessment for your activity later in the form.

Budget

To help you with this section of the form, see the Appendix – Help with Budgets on Page 31.

When filling in this section think about:

- Does your budget balance?
- Are you paying people fairly?
- How have you calculated your costs?

In this section we will ask you how much money you are requesting from Creative Scotland and ask you to fill out a summary budget. All applicants will also be asked to provide a more detailed budget and upload it as a supporting document.

In every budget line, give as much detail as you can about how you came to this figure. For example, for fees we will want to know how much time this covers and what industry recommended rate you have used; for studio or equipment hire we want to know how long you are hiring this and whether this is based on a quote from a supplier or an estimate. Similarly, if you are including income from other sources, let us know where this money is coming from and whether it is confirmed or just an estimate. For any sales (such as tickets, books, records, artworks or prints), detail how many sales this is based on and at what income per sale.

For programmes that include the buying of equipment or other small scale capital expenditure, we will ask you for some information on how you have selected the items in your budget, and how you have considered environmental sustainability when selecting them. You should also consider how you are ensuring best value from any equipment purchases, for example through tendering.

A note about Access Costs

If you are including access costs in your budget, note that there are two different categories of access costs – Personal Access Costs and Project Access Costs.

Personal Access Costs

If you, or any key collaborators involved in developing and leading the activity, are:

- Deaf
- disabled
- Neurodivergent
- have a long-term illness or chronic health condition

You may have additional costs relating to your own access needs, in order to deliver the programme. Some examples are:

- a BSL interpreter
- specialist equipment or software
- a Personal Assistant for a disabled person.

Personal access costs are treated separately to your main programme budget and in the application form we will ask you to provide these separately, along with a short narrative to tell us what the costs will support. Please note that they do not count towards your total funding request.

Project Access Costs

All other project access costs should be added in the Budget Expenditure section in this application form, using the “Project Access Costs” category. This includes any costs for making your activity accessible to audiences, participants and artists, and costs related to childcare and other caring responsibilities.

Supporting Documents and Additional Information

We have attempted to keep the questions as clear as possible, and not ask for information we might not need. However, this fund can support a very wide range of activity and we cannot define every single circumstance in this guidance. Programmes that are requesting more funds or are more complex, the assessing officer may require some additional documentation in order to be able to fully assess how well your programme meets our criteria.

These documents might include more details on people you plan to work with; marketing plans; risk assessments; or a more detailed timeline; – it depends on the nature of your programme and its current stage of development. We will only ask you for documents we would reasonably expect you to have at this point in the planning of your programme or activity.

The list of required supporting materials is as follows:

At point of registering to apply

- Evidence of Organisation/Company/Charity Type (ESSENTIAL)

When you register your organisation on the online portal you will be required to upload some official documents to confirm the type of organisation you are. These should be added when you first register and can be updated in the 'Your Account' section of the online portal

- Equal Opportunities Policy (ESSENTIAL)

All applicants must submit their Equal Opportunities Policy

As part of your application

- Programme Plan (ESSENTIAL)

In the Quality and Ambition section of the form, using the template provided, supply a programme plan for the duration of your application.

- Partner information/CVs of collaborators (OPTIONAL)

In the Quality and Ambition section of the form, you have the option to upload evidence of partners (letters of support etc) and CVs of collaborators if relevant.

- Budget (ESSENTIAL)

In addition to completing the income and expenditure tables in the Budget section of the application form, all applicants are required to upload a full budget to enable us to fully appraise the financial details of their programme. Applicants can use their own budget template to do this.

- Risk Assessment (ESSENTIAL)

All applicants are required to upload a risk assessment. A separate guide and template is provided on our website.

- Examples of work

Applicants can upload up to 3 examples of work to support their application.

- Other Supporting Documents

Applicants can upload up to 5 other supporting documents to support their application. This can include:

- EDI Action Plan (ESSENTIAL)

All applicants to this fund must have an EDI Action Plan in place and you must submit it as part of your application. If you don't have an EDI action plan already, you can find some guidance on developing one on our website.

- Safeguarding Policy (ESSENTIAL if working with vulnerable people)

If you are undertaking any work with children, young people or vulnerable adults you should have a safeguarding policy in place and will be required to upload it as part of your application (see Appendix – Safeguarding/Dignity at Work on Page 36).

- Other relevant materials

If felt appropriate this can include more detailed programme timelines, marketing plans or other materials which you feel are relevant to your submission. This could include any letters confirming other guaranteed funding.

Decision Making Process

What happens to my application after it is submitted?

Immediately after submission:

Once you submit your application through the online portal, you will be given a reference number (starting CS-EPF-XXXXX-XXXX) and will be emailed to confirm that we've received your submission. If you do not receive this email or reference number, please check your junk/spam folders – if still not received, get in touch with our Enquiries Service to make sure the application has been received.

First stage, checking for eligibility and completeness

Your application will first be checked for eligibility and completeness. This can take up to 10 working days depending on the volume of applications in the system. If your application is incomplete, you will be contacted and advised of the missing information. We will give you 10 working days to supply this information or your application will be considered incomplete and will not be assessed. If this happens you will be contacted, given the reasons and your application will not proceed further.

Officer assessment

All eligible applications will be passed to an assessing officer with expertise relevant to your application. They will review the application in detail. At this stage, it is still possible for an assessing officer to identify an application as ineligible. If this happens, we'll email you and let you know why. For all eligible applications, the assessing officer will appraise all the information provided. They may seek additional specialist comments from other colleagues. After this, they will make a recommendation based on whether the application meets the funding criteria and priorities of the fund. This recommendation will then be submitted to a Funding Panel for consideration alongside other applications.

Funding panel

Funding panels are scheduled throughout the year and membership is made up of senior Creative Scotland staff from across the organisation, and will be chaired by a member of our Senior Leadership Team. Each Funding Panel has a set budget to allocate and they aim to fund as many applications as possible from those under consideration that are recommended for funding.

The panel will consider the individual merits of each application as outlined in the assessment, examine relative strengths and the impact of each application in relation to other applications and explore the ways in which the programme may address Creative Scotland's broader ambitions and priorities (as published in our annual plan), all against the budget for that meeting.

Demand for funding is always higher than the budget available, and therefore the Panel will determine which applications offer the strongest match for our funding criteria.

Funding Decision

All applications

Shortly after the Funding Panel has met, we will get in touch with you to let you know the outcome of your application.

We aim to respond within 16 weeks of submission. (Please note that these timelines are impacted by Christmas public holidays for applications received between September and November 2023. All applications received during this period will be assessed within 18 weeks).

Successful applicants

If your application is awarded funding, you will receive details of your award, plus any grant conditions that have been added by the assessor or funding panel. You will also be issued with a funding contract.

Conditions – the assessor or funding panel may add conditions to the payment of your award. These are things you will need to submit to Creative Scotland in order to receive your award and might be evidence of something you told us in your application (such as funding from another source, or insurance) or a key stage that you would need to complete for your programme to be viable (such as selection of a lead artist).

Recommendations – these are comments from the assessor or funding panel that they suggest you consider in order to help you achieve your programme's aims. You are not required to show us that you've followed the recommendation.

If you have any questions on conditions and/or recommendations, you can get in touch with your assessing officer, whose details will be included with your offer of funding.

Payment structure of successful awards

Payment of awards made through the National Lottery Extended Programme Fund will be made in three instalments.

First payment:

Once you have returned your funding agreement and met any conditions, and your bank details have been verified, your first payment will be made. This will be 50% of the total grant.

Second payment:

Midway through your programme, you will be required to complete and return an interim project report giving us an update on the progress of your activity. This will be checked and upon successful sign off the second payment of 40% of the total grant will be issued.

Final payment:

Once you have completed your programme you will need to complete the End of Project Report to let us know how the programme went, any changes that you made to your original plans and whether you have any funds remaining. This Report template will be available through your account on the online portal. Once this is received by us and checked by your assessing officer, the final payment of 10% of total grant any will be made.

Unsuccessful applicants

If your application is not awarded funding you will be notified of this, with some feedback from the assessor and/or the funding panel. As outlined previously in this guidance there is no opportunity to reapply to this fund but you can consider applying to the National Lottery Open Fund for Organisations if applicable.

Freedom of Information

Creative Scotland is committed to being as open as possible. We believe that the public has a right to know how we spend public funds and how we make our funding decisions. You can see details of our FOI handling on our website here:

www.creativescotland.com/foi

We are listed as a public authority under the Freedom of Information Act (Scotland) 2002. By law, we may have to provide your application documents and information about our assessment to any member of the public who asks to see them under the Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002. We may not release those parts of the documents which are covered by one or more of the exemptions under the Act. Please see the Freedom of Information website at www.itspublicknowledge.info for information about the Act generally and the exemptions. We will not release any information about applications during the assessment period, as this may interfere with the decision-making process.

Data Protection

Creative Scotland (CS) requires some personal information about you/ your organisation to consider your application for funding. Without this information CS will be unable to process your application.

If you would like to see a breakdown of the personal information CS requires, why it is required, what CS does with that information and how long CS keeps it, please refer to CS's Privacy Notice available online www.creativescotland.com/privacy-policy.

CS may share your personal information with third parties to comply with the law and/or for the legitimate interests of CS and/or the third parties concerned.

Where the personal information you have provided to CS belongs to other individual(s), please refer to CS's Privacy Notice. Please ensure you share this Privacy Statement and CS's Privacy Notice with the respective individual(s).

You have some rights in relation to the personal information that CS holds about you under data protection law. Information on how to exercise these rights is contained in CS's Privacy Notice or you can contact CS's Data Protection Officer.

If you have any concerns with how CS has processed your personal information, you should contact CS's Data Protection Officer in the first instance, as CS would welcome the opportunity to work with you to resolve any complaint. If you are still dissatisfied, you can submit a complaint to the Information Commissioners Office.

Complaints

As an organisation, we will always listen to and respond to any concerns that you may have. If you would like to make a complaint about either the service you have received from Creative Scotland or the way we have handled your application, we have a process that you can use.

Please note that Creative Scotland does not have an appeals process and for this reason, we are unable to accept complaints that relate solely to the decision we have made rather than how we have made it.

For more information, please visit the Complaints section of our website:
Complaints Handling | Creative Scotland.

Subsidy Control

A subsidy is where a public authority provides support (such as a grant award) to an organisation that gives them an economic advantage, meaning equivalent support could not have been obtained on commercial terms.

The purpose of the UK subsidy control regime is to prevent public authorities from giving financial advantages to organisations in a way that could distort competition.

The criteria and eligibility for the National Lottery Open Fund for Organisations are designed to ensure that profits are not made within the project period. Also, the assessment and decision process will select activity that would not happen, in the way described in the application, without funding being provided. This results in eligible activity being non-economic under the Subsidy Control Act 2022, therefore, any award is not classed as a subsidy under this legislation.

However this position could be challenged by another organisation or individual and, if they were successful in this challenge, could lead to the funding award requiring to be repaid by the recipient.

Further information on the UK Subsidy Control Regime can be found on the UK Government website here. The Subsidy Control Statutory Guidance can be found here: Statutory Guidance.

Appendix – Capital, Equipment and Consumables

In this fund, small scale capital costs (including any/all equipment and consumables) should not exceed £50,000 of total request to Creative Scotland.

Capital funding – what can funds be used for?

You can include small scale capital costs in your application as long as you can demonstrate how it will enable, or further enhance, your creative activities. When we say ‘small capital costs’ we mean this to include:

- Installing fixed assets, such as lighting or seating
- Purchase of instruments
- Purchase of new equipment (see below for situation regarding second-hand equipment)
- Purchase of vehicles
- Installation of new technologies (including digital or environmental)
- Small scale building renovations and improvements such as accessibility and fitness for purpose.

We do not support:

- Large scale capital activity
- The purchase of buildings
- Feasibility studies
- Equipment-only applications (see below)

Equipment and Consumables

- Equipment and consumables can form part of your request to the National Lottery Extended Programme Fund but you cannot apply only for equipment/consumables.
- We define equipment as items necessary for the delivery of the funded activity and that will become an asset belonging to the applicant on the conclusion of the project.
- We define consumables as items necessary for the delivery of the funded activity that will have no meaningful use or value following the conclusion of the programme, such as art materials.
- Equipment and consumables are eligible for support provided they are integral to the delivery of your programme, or you can demonstrate that they will enable, or further enhance, your creative activities.
- We can consider applications for second-hand equipment where the equipment is no longer available new (for example to utilise legacy formats) or where the equipment is in as-new condition or has a warranty (in order to support re-use in light of the climate emergency).

Appendix – Application Questions

Appendix – Help with Budgets

This section explains what budget information is required as part of an application to the National Lottery Extended Programme Fund. For more information on budgets you can also visit this page on the Creative Scotland website.

We require all applicants to supply us with a separate budget to help us to assess the financial management of your programme. In addition to your own budget, we also ask you to provide us with a summary breakdown of the costs associated with your programme by completing the following tables in the application form:

- Budget Income Table
- Budget Expenditure Table

Please only use full pound amounts in all budgets. You can round any more specific costs up to the nearest pound.

We want to support programmes which show a good understanding of the costs and income involved and how they will be monitored and controlled. We also need the information in these tables to report back to our funders.

When filling in the Budget Income table in the form what information should I include?

In the application form, we ask you to complete two main tables: one listing your costs or expenditure, and another listing your income. Starting with the income table, list all the income for the project – any funding you are seeking, any in-kind contributions, any costs you expect the project to generate (i.e. from ticket sales) during the start and end dates. See how much other funding you have, or are anticipating, and you can request the rest from Creative Scotland.

It is possible to request 100% from Creative Scotland, but it strengthens your application if you can show that there is wider support for the activity you're proposing. Also, it is not a condition of our funding that other partnership funding must be guaranteed, but evidence of funding support from other partners is something that we have to consider in a highly competitive fund.

How should in-kind costs appear in my Project Income table?

If there are any items in your Project Income table which are covered as being in-kind (such as volunteer staffing, discounted space bookings etc) you need to ensure that they are also given a value and included in your income table. Here is an example Project Income table showing some of the key things to consider when filling out this table:

Type of Funding	Name of Funder/ Source of Income	Cash or In-kind	Conditional Guaranteed or Pending	Amount of Funding / Income £
Creative Scotland	National Lottery Extended Programme Fund	Cash (Our grants are always cash)	Pending (this is what you are applying for, so it's always pending)	£xxx
Local Authority	XY Council	Cash	Guaranteed	£xxx (For any guaranteed cash from other sources, you will need to provide evidence with your application)
Trusts & Foundations	YZ Trust	Cash	Conditional	£xxx (we will ask you to provide details on what this income is conditional on, for example confirmation of match funding)
Companies	WZ advertising	In-kind	Guaranteed	£xxx (Where possible, please provide evidence of any in-kind contributions where a supplier/partner is giving you a free or discounted service - this could be a letter or email confirming their offer, for example)
Individuals & Fundraising	Crowdfunding campaign	Cash	Pending (if not yet done) or Guaranteed (if funding already raised).	£xxx (If Guaranteed, give us the link to the webpage as proof.)
Own Resources (cash and / or in-kind, please specify)	You might want to add some of your own cash or in-kind contribution (time, equipment, etc.)	In-kind or cash (please specify which)	Guaranteed (we normally accept your own contribution as guaranteed)	£xxx
Earned Income (e.g. Box Office)	Box office income	Cash	This is usually 'Pending' as it is future income. It is only 'Guaranteed' if you have set fees guaranteed by venues, etc.	£xxx (If 'Guaranteed' you must provide written evidence, such as emails, with the amount offered.)
Other (please specify)	Volunteers	In-kind	Guaranteed	£xxx (Please attribute an amount to the costs of the contribution and insert here).
Total Project Income – Box B				£xxx This must be same as the total in the Project Costs table

When filling in the Budget Expenditure table in the form what information should I include?

For the Project Costs table, we advise you to make a list – what sort of expenses does your project involve? These are likely to include:

Costs to pay the people involved: Include all the fees and wages of all the people involved in the activity – artists, support staff and including your own artistic costs. Creative Scotland wants to ensure that people are paid fairly and appropriately for their time and effort. When you calculate artistic costs, please look at relevant industry standards on rates. Please Note: as part of the Scottish Government’s Bute House Agreement, all organisations applying for funding from Creative Scotland from 1 July 2023 will be required to pay all directly employed staff at least the Real Living Wage.

Essential running costs or overheads for the project: Beyond paying the people involved, include all the necessary running costs for delivering your project (see example budgets for types of core running costs to include).

Costs to buy necessary equipment and materials: If your project requires the purchase or rental of equipment or materials, outline what these are. Please note, capital or equipment purchase costs should not exceed £50,000 of the overall budget for your project.

Costs to promote the project or help find/develop your audience: Costs for marketing, research, audience development and the development and production of any marketing communications materials.

Access costs: There are two sorts of access costs – Personal Access Costs and Project Access Costs, which should be presented separately in your budget.

Personal Access Costs: If you or any key collaborators involved in developing and leading the activity, are Deaf, disabled, neurodivergent or have a long-term illness or chronic health condition, you may require additional costs relating to your own access needs, in order to deliver the project. Some examples are a BSL interpreter, specialist equipment or software, additional travel costs or a Personal Assistant for a disabled person. This list is not exhaustive. You should tell us what you require in order to deliver the activity. Personal access costs are treated separately to your main project budget. They do not count towards your total funding request.

Access to Work – You may also be eligible to apply for support from the UK Government’s Access to Work fund, which can help cover some of the extra costs of carrying out your job, or travelling to, from and during work if you are disabled. More information on Access to Work is available here – www.gov.uk/access-to-work.

Project Access Costs: All other project access costs should be added in the Budget Expenditure page within the application form, using the “Project Access Costs” category.

These are the costs that help your activity to be open and accessible to as wide range of people as possible. Any costs can be included here that are directly related to removing or reducing barriers for people to be involved with, take part-in, or attend your activity.

Some examples include costs for Audio Described, BSL (British Sign Language) interpreted or captioned performances; accessible formats for materials and exhibition interpretation; touch tours; creche facilities; wheelchair accessibility.

You can also include costs related to one-off or short-term childcare and other caring responsibilities where you or someone else involved in your project is unlikely to be able to take part without this support. Please note: Childcare costs are classed as a taxable benefit, so whilst Creative Scotland funding can cover these costs, you will be responsible for reporting this to HMRC.

Other costs: Some costs don't easily fit into the sections above, so you should include them here. For example, you may want to add a contingency, as a safety measure for unforeseen costs. This is usually between 5-10% of the budget.

What else do I need to know about costs? In your costs table you should include all costs, even the ones you get 'for free' – otherwise known as in-kind – where no money exchanges hands, or you get a discount. For example, you might have volunteers helping with your project. You should estimate the amount of money you would normally have to pay for the work and add it to your costs. Or you could be getting advertisement space at a discounted price from a company. Again, include the full amount it would normally cost.

Are there any costs which we can't include? There are certain types of activity which the Open Fund doesn't support. In addition, because funds come largely from the National Lottery, there are certain things that our funding cannot be used for. You can't include the following costs in a project budget:

- repayment of loans, endowments or interest
- money which has already been spent
- paying someone else to write your application for you
- costs for political or religious activities
- money for wider fundraising purposes
- VAT you can reclaim
- costs for projects which are replacing statutory activities
- For more information on profit-making activity see Appendix on Profit Making Activity Page 37)

What else do I need to know about budgeting?

Double Funding

Please note that if your project includes funding from Creative Scotland from another funding route – either directly through one of Creative Scotland's other funding programmes or through one of our funds delivered by partners – this 'double funding' cannot be used as partnership funding for a project. If you need any clarification on whether your proposed partnership funding is considered 'double funding' please contact our Enquiries Service.

Project reporting

If awarded funding, as part of managing your project and budgets, you will be required to monitor your income and expenditure throughout and report back on this half-way through your programme, and at the end. We need to see your costs compared to the budget information presented when you applied, so you will be expected to record this information throughout the project.

Cashflow

As outlined in the guidance if you are successful in being awarded funding, the money is normally given in three instalments – 50% when you return the contract, 40% midway through and only upon successful completion of the interim project report, and 10% at the end of the project and pending approval of the relevant project monitoring report. Applicants therefore need to ensure that they manage their cashflow accordingly. If this is likely to cause you some issues, in some cases, we will be able to amend this standard payment structure. Please discuss with us if you consider that your needs may be better addressed by different payment structure.

Fair Pay

We expect applications to reference relevant industry standards on rates of remuneration – such as those outlined by the Musicians Union, the Scottish Artists Union, EQUITY, BECTU, or the Society of Authors. We've produced some guidance on rates of pay which is available on the Creative Scotland website. Please Note: as part of the Scottish Government's Bute House Agreement, all organisations applying for funding from Creative Scotland from 1 July 2023 will be required to pay all directly employed staff at least the Real Living Wage.

Budget Examples

Please note that all applications are required to submit an additional supplementary budget, in addition to the completion of your income and expenditure tables in the online application form. The format of this budget is dependent on your programme. We would recommend that you use a spreadsheet to prepare your budget and check it carefully before you submit, to ensure that it adds up correctly and includes every part of your programme. For more information on budgets including some examples, you can visit the Help with Budgets section on our website.

Appendix – Safeguarding/Dignity at Work

Safeguarding

Safeguarding is the term for measures that you put in place to ensure that people you are working with, as participants or employees, are protected from harm, abuse and exploitation. Creative Scotland has produced guidance on safeguarding when working with children, both in-person and online – this is available on our website here: Creating Safety.

If you are undertaking any work with children, young people or vulnerable adults (either in-person or online), you should have a safeguarding policy in place, and we would encourage you to take expert advice on this – our Creating Safety guidance can help, and other organisations such as NSPCC also have guidance for individuals undertaking this work.

Organisations applying for activity involving children, young people or vulnerable adults should ensure all individuals involved are members of the PVG scheme run by Disclosure Scotland.

Dignity at Work

Everyone working in Scotland’s creative and cultural sectors is entitled to be treated with dignity and respect, whether they are an employee, freelancer, contractor, Board member or volunteer. Creative Scotland does not tolerate bullying, harassment, or victimisation under any circumstance, and expects the same of any organisation that we support with public funding.

Those applying for activity that involves employing other people should ensure that they have appropriate safeguards in place to ensure dignity at work, including approaches to ensure best practice in areas such as: equality and diversity, harassment and bullying, disciplinary and whistle blowing.

Creative Scotland has produced guidance on what we mean when we describe dignity at work, and what our expectations are of those we fund. You can read this on our website here: Dignity at Work.

Our primary role is as a funder, and we do not have a regulatory role. However, we expect all grant recipients to take their responsibilities around safeguarding and dignity at work seriously when in receipt of public funds and failure to do so could result in payments being suspended or grants withdrawn.

Appendix – Profit making activity

Awards made as part of the National Lottery Open Fund for Organisations must promote the public good and not be intended primarily for private gain.

This means that we are not able to make awards where any profits are expected as a consequence of the award and are distributed outwith the organisation.

We understand that some activity will include creating new work (e.g. artworks, music, writing) which could result in profits being made.

We will assess your project as described in your application to ensure that that likely income to be generated (e.g. ticket sales, album sales, artwork sales) is included in your project budget. If we feel that your project period does not cover most of the likely project income then we may reduce your award and/or extend the project period.

When completing your End of Project Monitoring Form, if you have achieved more or less income than expected then you should show this in your final budget. If you have achieved more income than expected, this additional income may mean that any outstanding payments from Creative Scotland are reduced accordingly, or if the project has been very financially successful some of the award may need to be repaid.

In line with National Lottery terms and conditions, if anything created using our funding is subsequently exploited for significant commercial gain, Creative Scotland reserves the right to seek recoupment up to the value of any award made. Where we believe profits may have been made but not disclosed, we may request an audit of the project's financial records.
